

Painting the Calipers DIY Guide (by Jalal)

Just finished painting the brake calipers using bright RED heat resistant brake caliper & drum spray paint (made by Stepone Automotive) and the result is amazing 😊

I have done 2 wheels at a time by jacking the car up from the middle.

Had to clean all the brake dust and rust off using a metal brush (wearing a mask of course and this stuff is really dangerous to breath-in) and then I masked-off all of the areas surrounding the calipers and started painting.

It needed 2 coats on each side for the perfect finish.

Here are some pics:

Masking and painting in progress

The painted calipers are ready (they came-out orange looking in this pic, but that is just the lighting effect when taking a photo)

The green colour you see in the pic are my EBC Green Stuff brake pads, so that has added even more colour to the calipers 😊

Here is the finished product with the alloys on

